

Protect employees and their families with simplified digital security.

While doing more online offers employees great connectivity and convenience, it also puts some of the things that matter to them the most at risk: their identity, money, assets, and reputation. Aura provides employees and their families with a digital security benefit that's simple so it's easy to stay safe online.

The average consumer's digital activity

Meet Aura, the new standard in digital security.

Traditional identity theft protection solutions focus narrowly on employees' "digital footprints" by providing alerts after their information is exposed by a breach or found on the dark web. These solutions are fragmented, overly technical, and complex — leaving employees confused and giving them a false sense of security.

Aura has redefined digital security. Putting the user at the center of everything we do, we are the only provider that has designed an all-in-one solution to offer protection for financial, credit, identity theft, malware, ransomware, scam sites, and other online threats. We focus on the user experience and features that provide the industry's strongest protection where consumers say they need it the most.
